THREE JEWISH COMPOSERS: MAHLER, SCHOENBERG, AND BERNSTEIN

Special Guest Speaker: Alex Weiser

Wednesday, May 12 at 7:30pm
on Zoom!

Gustav Mahler (1860-1911), Arnold Schoenberg (1874-1951), and Leonard Bernstein (1918-1990) are three musical masters whose Jewish backgrounds shed light on their musical projects. Each composer's work will be examined through the lens of their Jewish identity to reveal divergent manifestations of Jewishness in music and draws out meaningful threads that contribute to a broader story of Jewish history and culture.

Alex Weiser is the Director of Public Programs of the YIVO Institute for Jewish Research in New York City, and a composer of music with broad gestures, rich textures, and narrative sweep, which has been called “compelling” by The New York Times, and “ravishing” by The New Yorker. Weiser’s debut album and all the days were purple, includes songs in Yiddish and English and was named a 2020 Pulitzer Prize Finalist for Music. Weiser recently completed an opera about Theodor Herzl with librettist Ben Kaplan called State of the Jews.
